Editorial

Innovation as tradition

When my great-grandfather, Nicolaus Gehr, opened a small cabinetmaker's workshop in Lunestedt near Bremerhaven in 1913 no one expected he was laying the foundation stone for a representable family enterprise. Now in the fifth generation, we have since been committed to our clients and share their highest demands for quality interior fittings and furniture.

The name Gehr is well known for high-quality interiors for luxury yachts, business jets and cruise liners. We consult and develop in Hamburg City and at our headquarters. The ultra-modern manufacturing engineering is carried out on a 6.800 square metre site. Approximately 60 employees stand for experience, expertise, innovation and courage for the exceptional.

Our heart beats for your interior!

Tradition. Future.

A long history is something to be proud of.

But that does not create time to sit back. „Only“ valuable experience. And that is based on determined advancement.

1913

This is where the carpenter
Nicolaus Gehr lived and worked.

1960

The move to Bahnhofstraße (known today as „Zum Lunebogen“).

2019

High-end production on a 6.800 square metre site.

The Material

An exceptional interior can only be created from high-class raw materials.

Naturally finished or refined, precious metal or synthetics, colourless or coloured: The choice of material makes the difference.
